

Registration Week Will Decide Election in November and Both Parties Are Rounding Up Voters

Rival Leaders Insist Heavy Enrolment Means Victory for Their Own Candidates—Calder to Stick to Variable Brooklyn During Campaign.

By Joseph S. Jordan.

"Register!" is the battle cry of both the Democratic and Republican hosts, and this week the campaign will be waged around the polls in preparation for the battle at the polls in November.

Registration begins at 5 o'clock to-night and lasts till 10.30, and the registration places will be open every night in the week between the same hours with the exception of Saturday, when they will open at 11 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 10.30 at night.

Both parties claim that this is the week that will tell the story of the election, and, strangely enough, both claim that if a full registration is brought out it means, on the one hand the election of Gov. Miller, and the same reason is given for the election of former Gov. Smith.

So, the scouts are out on both sides beating the bush for recreant voters who might otherwise neglect their duty as citizens. It won't be the scouts' fault if there is a short registration.

Senator William M. Calder is going to spend most of the week in his Brooklyn balliwick. The Republicans will grant you that Kings County has the most independent citizenship in the State, and that you can't keep your finger on the vote. They gave President Harding a majority of 190,000 and then faced about and gave Al Smith a majority of 90,000.

So, the managers of Senator Calder have advised him to stay at home during the crucial week of registration and herd his forces together. This is not taken to mean that the Senator is going to set at defiance the dictum of Gov. Miller that the candidates must all pull together from under the same roof and work together for the common success of the whole ticket. On the contrary, the Senator feels that he is working for the best interests of all the candidates when he can get the voters to register.

He has the reputation of being one of the most successful organizers in the State, and has been in the game for twenty years. He has just proved his ability to organize by having all the Republican factions lined up in a united front for the first time in two decades. Now, he declares, his work is to organize the voters.

Former Col. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan, Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, will spend the day and the evening in Brooklyn and will make one or two addresses in the 1st Assembly District. The former commander of the old 69th told a lot of people at the Hotel Astor on Satur, who is now running for Congress from the 5th District, Brooklyn, on the Democratic ticket, had declared for light wines and beer before the platform of Syracuse was adopted. "But I'll tell you something with regard to the plank in the Democratic platform," he said to-day. "It means more than the public in general appear to think. Some people ask the question: 'Of what use is a wet plank, when you can't change the Prohibition Amendment?'"

"That isn't the idea at all. The wet plank in the Democratic platform pledges the candidates to an effort to secure a modification of the Volstead act, which interprets the meaning of the Eighteenth Amendment. The Congressmen are pledged to work for State rights. Before the birth of Prohibition, a State or municipality had the right of local option so far as the use or sale of liquor was concerned. We insist that the States should still have their right and would have the Volstead act modified so that it would be left to the vote of the people to determine whether they wanted light wines and beer."

"We do not seek the return of old conditions. No one wants to see the saloon come back. We want to see an interpretation of the Volstead act which would include light wines and beer, and we want the privilege of the referendum accorded to all States which may want to avail themselves of it."

Percy Michelbacher, Secretary to Sam Koenig, Manhattan Republican leader, returned with his wife from the Albany convention on the night that "Al" Smith was nominated, and both visited with the Koenigs at their home. Both were anxious to learn the news from Syracuse, as was everybody else in New York. A cry that sounded like "Ultra! Ultra!" sent

The Democratic County Committee made few changes in the personnel of the committee, and the old officers were re-elected, former Sheriff Dave Nott retaining his position as Chairman. Dave is running for Congress in the 14th Congressional District, and has for his opponent Nat Pearlman, the

Mrs. Michelbacher flying down the stairs for an evening paper. She caught the boy and bought the paper, then hurried back to Percy. "Read it Percy," she said, handing the paper to her husband. "I'm out of breath." Percy took a quick squint and handed the paper back. "I can't read it," he said. "It's in Yiddish."

The "ultra" was an early edition of the Forward.

Secretary of State Lyons was among those present at Gov. Miller's notification in Cooper Union the other night as debonair as if there had been no convention at Albany last week. Jack's a good loser, possessed of a keen sense of humor and an ever ready smile.

After the convention had adjourned a delegate who had been spending some parting moments with up-State congenial friends hailed Jack. "Shorry, Jack," he said, "but they're goin' turn you down to-morrow."

"What, again?" demanded Jack, and he made his escape to a place where he was met by a crowd of con- solers and introduced to one gentle- man who congratulated him on re- ceiving 158 votes against 1,000, in- sisting that he made a good fight. Then another friend stepped up and introduced him to the county under- taker of Erie. Jack took one look at the undertaker and said quietly: "All right, I'll buy."

incumbent. The Republican Conven- tion may have repudiated the wet plank in its platform, but Congress- man Pearlman had already declared himself as he had been nominated be- fore the convention met and the plat- form drawn.

And his friends in the 14th have adopted the slogan: "Nat's for light wines and beer. Why Nott?"

Surrogate John P. Cohalan has es- tablished headquarters at Broadway and 43d Street, and his friends and supporters declare he is in the fight for re-election on an independent ticket to stay. His slogan is: "One Good Term Deserves Another," and his emblem is a figure of Justice.

The Rev. Dr. Maurice H. Harris, rabbi of Temple Israel in Harlem and President of the New York Board of Jewish Ministers, in an open letter addressed to the public yesterday con- demned Murphy and Koenig for turn- ing down Surrogate Cohalan.

SONS REFUSE TO WORK, HAS THEM SENT TO JAIL

Mother Says Neither Told for Three Years; Get Six Months.

Thomas Burke, twenty-nine, and his brother Joseph, twenty-seven, of No. 213 McDougal Street, Brooklyn, were sentenced to six months in the work- house by Magistrate Brown in the Gates Avenue Court to-day on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The complainant, their mother, Mrs. Catherine Burke, fifty-five, said neither had worked for three years and had not given her any money during that time. She said she asked them to find jobs and they abused her. She had both arrested.

SMITH AND MILLER WILL BROADCAST SPEECHES BY RADIO

New Jersey Candidates Also Will Use WJZ.

The Radio Corporation-Weest- house broadcasting station WJZ at Newark, N. J., has invited the Re- publican and Democratic candidates for Governor and United States Sen- ator of New York and New Jersey to speak from this station. Most of the invitations have been accepted and the following tentative schedule has been arranged:
